Whether Big or Small, It's Important to Report ALL Crimes

For a variety of reasons, many crimes are never reported to the Police Bureau. Sometimes people only report crimes when an insurance company requests a police report or when a substantial financial loss has occurred.

It can't be emphasized enough that ALL crimes should be reported as soon as possible. That includes graffiti, any attempted theft or burglary, robberies and any other crimes. In addition, the sooner the information is reported, the sooner Police can take action and preventive measures can be shared with other neighbors and businesses.

If you do need to make a police report, remember to contact the non-emergency number at 503/823-3333. Sometimes you will be diverted to the TRU, or Telephone Report Unit and other times an officer will show up to do a report in person. Regardless, the information that you share is valuable in helping the Police Bureau be aware of any crime trends in your neighborhood. With that information, ONI Crime Prevention and Portland Police can keep the neighborhood association, area businesses and your neighbors aware of potential concerns and can help prevent additional crimes in your community.

If you have any public safety concerns or questions, please contact Havilah Ferschweiler, ONI Crime Prevention Coordinator at 503-823-0540.

FOCUS ON BROOKLYN BUSINESSES

Diana McCredie, Real Estate Broker

Windermere/Cronin & Caplin

(See Diana's card in our business section)

What is the most common remark people make about our neighborhood when you show them houses in Brooklyn?

Diana: "We really like the close proximity to downtown, the character of the older homes, and the affordability for something so close-in."

Why do people want to live in Brooklyn?

Diana: Brooklyn may not be a 'destination neighborhood' but buyers who want to live close-in southeast, and find themselves priced out of neighborhoods like Hawthorne, Westmoreland, Laurelhurst, etc. are interested in the best value for the price. They can often find that in Brooklyn.

As a realtor, what would you say is the biggest draw to live in Brooklyn?

Diana: It's obvious that Brooklyn has some deep roots in Portland's history. I think buyers considering Brooklyn as their home and current residents appreciate that historical identity. Also, neighbors are very friendly and, I always point out the active neighborhood association "BAC" and encourage new homeowners or investors to attend the meetings. People love to hear about neighborhood involvement and feel a real sense of community. Brooklyn has economic and demographic diversity and many of today's buyers like that.

This interview was conducted by Kirsten Lampi, BAC Board Member.

We will be interviewing other supporting realtor's for upcoming newsletters. If you have any questions you would like the BAC board to ask of the realtors, please call our neighborhood hot line 503/241-4540 or offer your suggestions at the next neighborhood meeting.

BROOKLYN DOG COALITION MEETING

The Brooklyn Dog Coalition is a gathering of dog lovers in the Brooklyn neighborhood with a goal of securing a time for our canines to play and interact off-leash in the park adjacent to Winterhaven School.

All dog lovers and interested residents are invited to attend the next BDC meeting on Tuesday, November 10th at 7 pm at the Southeast Grind Coffee Shop, 1223 SE Powell Blvd (across from Subway).

For more information, check out Brooklyn Dog Coalition on Facebook.

HELP TO ENSURE THE FUTURE OF OUR TREASURED LOCOMOTIVES

The sounds of bells and whistles will be no stranger to the holidays, thanks again to the arrival of Santa, the steam engines and friendly faces of Holiday Express 2009. The Oregon Rail Heritage Foundation (ORHF) will offer regularly scheduled departures from Oaks Park Station on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 4 - 6 and Dec. 11- 13.

Ticket information can be found at www.orhf.org or TicketsWest.com.

The Holiday Express features a train of vintage rail cars on the Oregon Pacific Railroad north along the east bank of the Willamette River, offering amazing views of Oaks Bottom Wildlife Refuge, the river, and the city of Portland skyline, before returning to Oaks Park. This year the Spokane, Portland and Seattle 700 will pull the train on the first weekend; the Southern Pacific 4449 on the second. Weighing 440 tons apiece, they are two of the six largest operating steam locomotives in the United States.

The Holiday Express is the primary fundraising activity of the ORHF to further its mission of creating a permanent home for these historic locomotives and the Oregon Railway and Navigation 197, currently under restoration. With land recently purchased near OMSI, ORHF is preparing to raise money to build the restoration facility. Seats sell out fast, especially for the night runs, and Fridays are the best days to book your trip, so bring the whole family to meet Santa and ride the rails with live steam.
